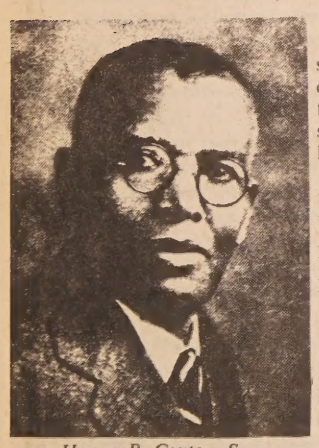
Recension by R. "Pepper" Murray



Horace R. Cayton, Sr.

"Let all men, irrespective of race, color, creed or nationality, meet on one common ground, smoke the the pipe of everlasting peace...Let there be one flag and one country for all manner of man that swears allegiance thereto. Let America be for all Americans, without either color or race distinction clientile any figure in the contest. Let the race be for all, and the prize to the winner, irrespective. Let us join in the brotherhood of man, and form a nucleus, both defensive and offensive, around which we will gather the elements of American humanity, now apelling each other, and this move on gradly to a goal, and with our combined forces defy the world should it threaten our liberties, endanger our institutions..."

Born a Mississippi plantation slave in 1859 Cayton was 6 years old when Emancipation freed his family--to a life of poverty on a small farm near Port Gibson, Mississipi.

Young Horace worked on the farm, then taught school to pay for his education at nearby Alcorn College. Not long after he graduated in the early 1880's he set off west to seek his fortune. He drifted steadily westward, to Kansas, then Salt Lake City, then Portland and finally Seattle.

In Seattle, Cayton landed a job on a struggling populist newspaper that soon failed. He worked as a political reporter for the Post-Intelligencer, then on Seattle's first newspaper for black people, The Seattle Standard founded in 1882 by Cayton's friend Britain Oxendine. But the city's Black population was only about 300. Oxendine's paper failed in the hard times that followed the Panic of 1883

Within a year, Cayton had set up his own newspaper: May 19, 1884 he issued the first edition of The Seattle Republican from his office in the Burke Building.

The pages of the Seattle Republican were devoted primarily to national, state, and local politics. As a newspaper of intense political spirit, it typified most journalism of the day. But, Cayton's paper had two features which made it distinctive: It was a political newspaper, owned and operated by a Black; and it was directed to both white and black readers. Editor Cayton declared, "The Republican lays no claim of being the official organ of any race, class or clan of citizens...It stands for right, and champions the cause of the oppressed as it sees it, whether that oppressed be black or white. The success of the Republican party is one of its highest ambitions." These characteristics made Cayton's paper unique in the Northwest.

Cayton and his Seattle Republican played a role in the building of Washington's Republican Party. However, at present, documentary evidence is skimpy, and the nature and character of that role remains imprecisely defined.

The Seattle Republican mirrored not only Cayton's lifelong fascination with politics, but also a profound concern for the past, present, and future of blacks

WHERE DO YOU FIT

THE 23RD CHANNEL

The TV is my shepherd. My spirtual growth shall want. It maketh me to dit down and do nothing for His name's sake, because it requireth all my spare time. It keepeth me from doing my duty as a Christian, because it presenteth so many good shows that I must see.

It restoreth my knowledge of the things of the world, and keepeth me from the study of God's word. It leadeth me in the paths of failing to attend the evening worship services, and doing nothing in the Kingdom of God.

Yea, though I live to be a hundred, I shall keep on viewing my TV as long as it will work, for it is my closest companion. Its sound and its picture, they comfort me.

It presenteth entertainment before me, and keepeth me from doing important things with my family. It fills my head with ideas which differ from those set forth in the word of God.

Surely, no good thing will come of my life, because my TV offereth me no good time to do the will of God; thus I will dwell in the place of the Devil and his angels forever.

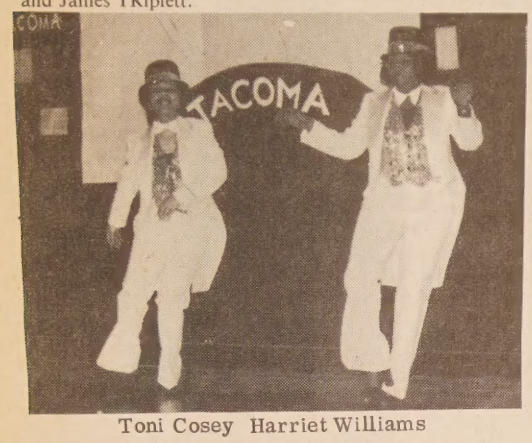
Over 40 Revue Review

By Vertist Edwards

The NDABA Cultural Ensemble's Over 40 Revue, Second Time Around provided refreshing entertainment to more than 600 people last Saturday evening.

After a half hour late start, the opening dance chorus line with Charlotte Breckenridge, Scotti Burgess, Toni Cosey, Naomi Johnson, Bil Lombard, Daisy Stallworth, Ann Caffee and Harriet Williams with their out of step dancing set the mood for a joyous evening.

Songs of So Fine and Stagger Lee harmonized by Leonard Baldwin, Raymond Loggins, Willard Loggins, and James TRiplett.



Toni Cosey Harriet Williams

Charles Walker Mrs. Gamell

The New NDABA Singing group composed of *Sarah Gordon, Lillian Jasper, Cheri Moffett, Natalie Leath, Lillie Morris,*with Judge Davis as the dererlict of Hit The Road Jack caused many to reminisce.

Lucille Lombard, grandmother of Vince Lombard, brought the house to its feet with her rendition of Baby ¼Won't You Please Come Home and St. Louis Blues.

We Blacks enjoy the blues. Many applauses and foot stomping werer provided by the audience as Judge Davis bellowed St ormy Monday and Everyday I Have The Blues.

Willard Loggins and the chorus of plantation singers were indeed a pleasure to hear for the well harmonizing of I'm On The Battlefield For My Lord.

High stepping Marie Linsey doing a disco solo dance; tap dancers Toni Cosey and Harriet Williams to Opus One and the melodic saxaphone solo of Stardust by Alonzo Foote, Sr. and the combination of all members of the troupe shows the need for a Black performing and cultural group. Support them when contributions are requested.

WOMEN SPEAKS

In Search of...Black Herstory

By Valerie D. Gordon

History is written by the victors! This statement made by former Editor-In-Chief of Essence magazine, Marcia Gillespie provided an answer to a question I should have asked back in the 7th grade when I was forced to study American History. It explains why for so long our history books very seldom spoke of slavery or black accomplishments and quite often showed Indians as blood-thirsty savages yearning for white folks' scalp.

You see, history (his story) is written according to the ones in power--and for Americans, that means our books are by-products of the way white men saw it. Consequently, it took monumental efforts by concerned activists to get Black history taught in our schools and Black Studies in our colleges and universities. As a result of this effort, Blacks were constantly made aware of their roots in American soil and from this consciousness sprung nationwide an annual Black Awareness Month.

So keeping within the true spirit of the originators of such a month, it becomes essential that we, as Blacks give equal time to our herstory--the study of historically great Black women. Sure we have heard of such greats as the conductor of the Underground Railroad, Harriet Tubman and Abolitionist and Civil War Heroine, Sojourner Truth. And some of us, may even know why certain schools are named after Poets'Phyllis Wheatley and Gwendolyn Brooks. But what about other foremothers--whose contributions made life easier for all of us--whose names are never mentioned. Must these unsung champions of women remain anonymous?

I went in search of our Black herstory and was amazed at what I found. Too numerous to mention here, Black women's achievements ranged from educators and entertainers to civil rights activists, sculptors and judges. Thumbing trhough the International Library of Negro Life and History, an encyclopedia by Wilhemena Robinson, here's a very brief summary of my findings:

For instance, did you know that we have a woman named Madame Walker to thank for inventing the process known as pressing our hair. Sarah Breedlove, alias the Madame experimented with oils to condition her hair while working as a cook in a white man's kitchen. After realizing those conditioners didn't take the kinks out, in 1905 she invented a hot iron or straightening comb to do the trick.

Later she opened both a factory to manufacture and sell her products along with a School Of Cosmetology. Before she died a very rich lady--owning a mansion worth $250,000, she donated $100,000 toward establishing an academy for girls in West Africa.

In the limelight were actresses Hattie McDaniel (1898-1952) and Ethel Waters (1900-1972). McDaniel became known as the eternal mammy of Hollywood and radio, but received her greatest fame in 1939 as the first black to ever win an Oscar for her role in Gone With The Wind. Other credits include Saratoga, I'm No Angel and Nothing Sacred.

The multi-talented Ethel Waters was known both as a great gospel singer and actress for her roles in such hits as Cabin In The Sky, Member of the Wedding and Rhapsody In Black. Her autobiography, His Eye Is On The Sparrow states how she married at the age of 12 while working as a maid earning $4.75 per week.

But perhaps my most interresting find during my herstory search was the life of Philippa Duke Savge. Born In 1932, Savage had an I.Q. of 185. She wrote poetry at the age of 3 and by 14 had composed 200 musical selections. She spoke Spanish, French and Italian fluently. Her travels took her to unconventional places leading to delicate situations. She was in the Congo in 1960 when the revolution occurred, kidnapped in Nigeria and poisoned in West Africa. A tragic plane crash ended her life in 1967 but, not before she had received two dozens prizes and citations for her artistic talents.

I wish I had the space to mention other great women like Ida Wells Barnett who became the first Black probation officer in Chicago and co-founder of the NAACP or Judge Constance Duke Motley who as a lawyer won the case of Meredith vs. The University of Mississippi breaking the chains of segregation in southern universities, but I couldn't do them justice.

Just know that Black women can be proud of their female ancestors and the contributions they have made to our race and the society as a whole. I urge you to go in search of your herstory for knowledge is power. As James Baldwin states in The Fire Next Time, it's important to know from whence you came. If you know from whence you came, there's no limit to where you can go.

Black Publisher

in America. He was a devoted, outspoken advocate of black pride and racial equality. Each issue of the paper contained articles on blacks in the city, the state, and around the country. Among Cayton's favorite subjects were the state's black pioneers, including George Bush, William Gross, and George Washington, who had made important contributions to the Northwest. Yet, Cayton did not simply publish articles about blacks which treated them as isolated topics of interest. He consistently included blacks, as well as whites, in his discussions of the major political issues of the day.

Cayton had shared in Seattle's rising prosperity and spectacular growth that came in the wake of the Alaska Gold Rush of 1897-98. His success was partly a function of the nature of race relations in the Northwest in those years. Whether there had been "racial harmony" between blacks and whites, as some have contended, is doubtful. Yet, the racial barrier against blacks was so ill-defined that Cayton was able to build a successful newspaper business and pay a role in state politics; these accomplishments hinged on his relationship with the dominaate white society. Seattle's heritage may explain Cayton's rise. A frontier town in transition during the late 19th century, it was a place where individualism, ability, and respect for the self-made man were sometimes more important than skin color.

Cayton's success did not last. About 1908 his position began to decline. What caused the reversal? It appears that several factors were involved, economic, political, and social forces. The general deterioration of white-black relations in Seattle after the turn of the century. Horace R. Cayton, Jr., the publisher's son who became a prominent sociologist, called his father a victim of the city's changing social pattern.

The life and times of Horace Roscoe Cayton, tells the story of the changing limits of freedom and equality that existed in the Pacific Northwest. His experiences--molded in him a strong faith in the "American Dream" --that a man like himself, educated, forthright, with a driving will to succeed, could succeed in a place where he was respected for his abilities.

Horace Cayton passed the final years of his life in poverty and relative obscurity. When he died on August 16, 1940, at 81, he had been a resident of Seattle for more than half a century. He had come to the Northwest an educated ex-slave and found opportunity in the political newspaper business. His success brought him wealth, respect, and prestige, and it convinced him that any black of ability would be recognized and respected by whites in this society.

It is unfortunate for us all that he was mistaken.

THEME: "The Mission of the Church"

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.
2nd Chronicles 7:14

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,
To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.
St. Luke 4:18,19

EARLY FILING MEANS QUICK REFUNDS

"File Early", said Richard R. Orosco, Seattle IRS Acting District Director today. By filing early, you will receive your refund quicker. This also helps to balance the workload for IRS, Orosco further stated.

Internal Revenue Service does not pay interest on refunds, as is currently being quoted from many sources. Under the law, IRS is only allowed to pay interest on refunds if they fail to issue a refund after more than 45 days from the due date of the return or 45 days from the date the return is filed, whichever is later.

Filing your tax return early will not increase the chance of being audited. All tax returns receive the same screening process regardless of when they are filed. At present, about two percent of the individual tax returns are audited.

IT'S HARD TO BE GROWN

I know your parents must be worried
You being out here alone.
You're still quite young
You're still a babe
Did you run away from home?

Well the young lad was a lucky lad.
The Samaritans words were true.
This may be a poem but children remember
It still could happen to you.

We parents may not be the best
But we're the best you've got.
And we parents must understand our young
And must provoke them not.

In the heat of anger our minds are not clear
And bad seeds can be sown.
Relax and be young while youth is here.
Because it's awfully hard to be grown.

Self-Analysis

How many times have you asked yourself: "Is this really the way I want to look?," "Is this how I want others to see me?" When you look into a mirror, do you see a person who appears "older" than you really are? If you aren't happy with what you see, why not seriously do something about it?

The first step in self-analysis is to remember that everyone has some "natural beauty," and that beauty comes from within; it starts with how you feel ABOUT YOUR SELVES. If you think positively about yourself, you will project what is commonly called "Poise," which is also known as confidence. A poised you tell the world and (most importantly), yourself that you like yourself; that you are the best person that you can be; and that you can like others.

The next step in self analysis--and a sure method to acquire the poise mentioned above--is to determine what and where improvements you deem desirable to make in yourself. Remember, bone structure, height, facial features, and skin color are some of the physical characteristics that cannot be changed; you must learn to live with and love those natural attributes. However, there are many things that can be done with colorings, cosmetics, hairstyles, posture, diets, and wardrobes to enhance your natural physical features...thereby helping to make you the "ideal" you.

Still another step in self-analysis is to make an honest assessment of your personal habits. How often have you seen a well-dressed, physically-attracted man or woman, only to later discover how ugly they are because of their personality? Truly, beauty goes much, much further than skin deep. So while you are dieting, exercising, changing your hairstyle and wardrobe, etc. also check with yourself and a few close friends to see if your self-improvement efforts requires a change or two in your personality habits.

Remember, when you are through carrying out your self-analysis, YOU ARE GOING TO LOVE YOU!!

We welcome and appreciate all feedback. We need to know your wants and needs.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT IRA

There are many places one can get an IRA and there are many options to choose from. Insurance companys and banks are but a few who carry them. Some are flexible others are fixed. Please remember that in all IRAs there is an interest penalty if you need your money before you are 59-½ years of age, or if the interest rate should drop. Most accounts have a minimum rate or interest, you should ask if there is and what rate is given. To open an IRA one may have as little as fifty dollors in cash, be employed or self-employed. A single wage earner can save up to two thousand dollars. A working couple can save up to four thousand dollars and up to two thousand two hundred and fifty dollars if you are married and your spouse is not employed. The money put into an IRA is deferred from federal taxes, until you reach retirement. If you are a senior citizen you will get a double deduction, therefore giving you a lower tax rate. There are hidden costs in some IRAs, to make sure that you are getting the most for your money shop around. Read the fine print, and don't fail to ask questions when you are not sure. Look out for set-up fees and administrative fees. Don't be taken in by the sound of becoming a millionare because it will take 35 years and $2,000 each year at an interest rate of 12% to become one. IRAs are good for those who can afford them and for those who can't, well, that's another story.

Mr. Roger O. Laskey, Program Director
Al Davies Boys' Club
1620 South 17th Street
Tacoma, Washington 98405

Dear Mr. Laskey:

I am very interested in assisting with the start of a music program for the Boys' Club as we have been discussing this and other music matters for some years now.

I am willing to VOLUNTEER my services in order to set up a program, also instruct music lessons in my field.

I can assure you, Mr. Laskey, that starting this program is worthwhile because, this day in time, most parents cannot afford to provide private lessons for their children. I propose we can provide assistance with my private lesson system at "no charge" to students who show music ability.

We both know how totally impossible it is for instructors in our public schools to make time for each and every individual student's needs. Well, with my system, we can provide the extra time for those students with one-on-one private lessons.

The student has only to be where the instructions are given and purchase some materials such as manuscript music paper and other small inexpensive items.

The music program will also meet with parents on progress of students, assist with information concerning if students need instruments, also how to select the right instrument, new or used.

I know you will agree with me that just this simple informal letter can turn into a big step in the right direction for the music program to help assist our communities young and up-coming musicians.

Malcolm's Sports Report

Not to long ago I was talking about basketball in the Metropoltian Parks Recreation Program. The other night at T.C.C. there was a showdown of two of the best metro AA teams in the city. The Shugdaf Bombers coached by Walter Jackson, and The Sportsmans Restaurant coached by Malcolm Davis. If you like good basketball you should see these two teams play. The game was just like N.B.A. play. The Bombers have talent galore plus a pretty strong bench. The Sportsmans have a good all-around mature team. They are the defending AA City Champs. The addition of Larry Winters and the other veterans like Willie Dale, Roderick Coleman, Jimmy Erivn, Barrett Gee, and Last but not least Robert Comers, have made them possible state championship material. But here in the city the Bombers are the ones to beat. They have played two games. Each team has won one a piece. The Championship game will be played on the 18th of February at Wilson Boys Gym at 8:30. That will determine who is the League Champion. Woods Barbers stomped on the Sonics of the north end 44 - 18 for their fifth victory in a row. Craig Smith led all scorers with 18 points. These youngsters are preparing to go to Portland for the annual 5th Grade Championships. They should be a strong contender for the championship. TN Millers knocked off the Rhinelander in pool last night. Don't forget about the TN Millers, Shugduf shoot out in pool April 3rd and 4th. Come join the party. Speaking of parties the Sportmans Restaurant is giving a Valentine's Party Saturday the 13th at 10:00 at 1120 So. 23rd St. All sportsman are invited. Have any questions or answers? Drop me a line. Malcolm 1019 So. 12th St. Tacoma, WA. Have a super day and week

Second Annual
YWCA WOMAN OF THE YEAR
Award Luncheon

Tuesday, March 2, 1982
12:00 noon
Bicentennial Pavilion

Because Tacoma's Y.W.C.A. has been such a vital element in our city's history for more than 75 years, the second annual Woman of the Year award will be presented during 1982's Women's History Week. At first American women met to pray together, to sew and to study. They called themselves Ladies Improvement Societies, Prayer Unions, United Workers, and out of their meetings in the 1850s and 60s -- out of their concern and commitment -- grew the Y.W.C.A.: the largest women's membership organization in the world today, and the only one to have made service synonymous with social change for more than a century.

You are invited to join us at the awards ceremony and to nominate a woman who has made outstanding contributions to the community. She may be selected for her leadership in one or more of these seven categories:

- Arts and communications
- Business
- Government and politics
- Sports and fitness
- Professional
- Humanitarian and community service
- Education

A panel of judges will select one woman from each category to be cited for special recognition and one woman will be chosen as the Y.W.C.A. Woman of the Year for 1982.

Our guest speaker for the luncheon will be Ellen Pinto. Her distinguished history of service to our community includes being a member or past member of the Board of Trustees of Tacoma Community College, the Area Council on Aging Advisory Committee, the board of Christmas House, the Session of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, the Executive Committee of the League of Women Voters, the Tacoma Housing Authority and the Board of the Tacoma/Pierce County Y.W.C.A.

Enclosed are your nominating and luncheon reservation forms. You may nominate more than one woman and your candidate may excel in more than one of the seven categories listed above. Nominations must be received by February 23. Because of space limitations we ask that you return your luncheon reservation form by February 16.

We look forward to seeing you on March 2, 1982 as we celebrate women's achievements in our community.

Sincerely,

Sandra Cates
